

Magnification Resources-Lighthouse

A Lighthouse optician helps the client find the right tools to see better. This could be a magnifier that they hold, one with a light, or one that stands on its own. The optician might also use special lighting, sunshades, or a special TV system. They teach the client how to use their remaining vision in the best way. They also provide large print books, talking devices, and other tools for people with low vision.
