

Phoenix House Florida - Murray Center for Women

Provides gender-specific, trauma-informed treatment for women statewide who suffer from drug or alcohol addiction and/or co-occurring behavioral health issues that may be complicated by substance use.

The program utilizes evidence-based practices to help women develop trust, self-esteem, and personal responsibility. The program combines vital counseling, educational, and recreational activities that challenge women to understand the nature of their substance use. Family involvement is encouraged, as is mother/child reunification.
